

A few days spent sleeping in unfamiliar places
Disconnected
Suspended in uncertainty
Blind trust.

Strange places seem to be only places you might one day return to.
You hardly make an effort to believe that the 10.10 portal is taking effect as promised.

After heavy trials and transformations,
inner shifts,
full moons, cyclones, extraordinary phenomena —
rebirth.

It is now when you can change your mind without changing anything.

You step off public transport, see the ticket inspectors entering —
it's been a long time since you've caught such perfect timing.

You step onto public transport,
blind trust,
no connection,
suspension.

After rebirth,
you hardly make an effort —
you see the ticket inspectors stepping off.

It has never happened before that you remained unnoticed until the very end.

Ion Agaci (born 2000, Republic of Moldova) is a Philosophy student in Bucharest. He was featured in the anthology unsprezece, coordinated by Dumitru Crudu (Casa de Pariuri Literare, 2019). He made his literary debut with Șampanie pentru acest sfârșit (Tracus Arte, 2021), followed by Desculți. Pavaj proaspăt turnat (Tracus Arte, 2023). In 2024, he won a creative residency at the “B.P. Hasdeu” Municipal Library in Chișinău, during which he completed the poetry collection Așteptăm cuminiți teroarea.